Norfolk Collegians Lost Game By Montague's Wildness and Hard Luck.

ALSO ADVERSE DECISIONS

Visiting Player Twice Called Out On Long Hits for Not Touching Second.

The Norfolk Collegians lost the first of a series of three base-ball games to the Richmond Brownies yesterday by a tory for the home team, the winning running being scored with one man out. The game was a hard one for the Collegians to lose, for they outbatted the Brownies.

outsided them and gave a glit-edged exhibition of fast ball playing.

Two decisions given by Umpire MeLeavy figured conspicuously in the result, cutting off at least two runs for the visitors and possibly more. Two of these decisions were cases of cutting second base, Hopkins, the stalwart second bargan for the visitors being decond bagman for the visitors being de prived of a home run in one instance and of a three-bagger in the other. In the fouth liming with Keane on first, Hop-kins caught one of Pitzpatrick's twafters kins chught one of Pilzpatrick's twitters squarely on the end of his bat and seit the ball on a terrific drive to deep right center. It was one of the longest hits seen on the grounds in years. Anthony and Bowers sped after the flying ball, but when they returned it to the diamond, Hopkins was crossing the plate, and wild applause. The cheers ccased when Umpire McLeavy called the runner out for cutting second base. The visitors did not protest against the ruling, which was correct. The long hit could only be scored as a single. In the ninth inning the same batter drove a long fly to left center for three bases, but again ning the same batter drove a long hy to left center for three bases, but again he was called in by the umpire, who claimed that he had cut second, stepping over the bag instead of upon it. It was a hard blow to the visitors, and they protested vigorously, and many of the spectators contended that the runner had touched the bag. Certainly there was no apparent intention of cutting the sack, and nothing in speed was gained thereby. The visitors resumed play, and after Randall had gone out, Shafer lined out a beauty single to center, which would have scored Hopkins. Churn ended the inning, and the hopes of his team by sending a fly to Sharp.

Montague the Twirler.

Montague pitched the game for Nor folk, and, barring his wildness, acquitted himself handamery, holding the home team down to two double and three singles, and in only one inning did the visilors get more than two hits. Three of Richmond's four runs wers directly visilors get more than two hits. Three of Richmond's four runs wers directly due to Montague's gifts. In the second inlang J. Anthony was given a promenade and promptly stole second. Eache's single I. Anthony was given a promenade and promptly stole second. Eache's single to left was so quickly handled that Anthony was held on third. Meanwhile Bowers had fanned and Albert Anthony was held on third. Meanwhile Bowers had fanned and Albert Anthony opped up a little one to pitcher. Elmorc walked, and the bases were full. Montague was still unable to locate the plate, and Fitzpatrick was given a walk. forcing J. Anthony over the plate with the first Richmond run. McEvoy waited and was dead-headed to first, forcing Eacho in with the scoond run. Sharp then struck out, with the bases full.

The visitors scored in their first turn with the stick, Barry leading off with a safety to left, but being retired on White's hit to the pitcher. Lawler sent a fly to J. Anthony and Keane looke't dangerous and was allowed to walk. An error by Sharp allowed White to reach second and he stole third, and scored on Elmore's bad throw. Hopkins retired the side on a sharp rap to Eacho. The visitors scored another in the fourth or Keane's pas sto first, followed by Hopkins's hair-raising wollop to right center.

a Small London Book Store.

That Charles H. Spurgeon, the renowned English divine, is destined to live in the memory of men as one of the world's greatest religious teachers and as a leader in Christian as widespread as it was in his exemplary life, is shown by the fat that Thursday a week ago, in a small room near the London Bridge, there took place a most remarkable sale of the preacher a sermons. Every Sunday that he occupied his pulpit, from 1855 until his death in 1892. Spurgeon's sermons were taken down in shorthand by his publi hers, Passmore and Alabaster, corrected by the inner shown in shorthand and it is estimated that nearly sixty millions were sold within the thirty-seven years of the Breat preacher's ministry in London. The weekly sale, during his lifeties, aweraged their thousand, and it is estimated that nearly sixty millions were sold within the thirty-seven years of the Breat preacher's ministry in London.

The first lot of his sermons offered last Thursday consisted of f. fity thousand, the purchaser of which was entitled to acquire the remaining stock a, the same price, if no higher bid was made. Tenpence (twenty cens) at thousand, was the first offer but the price rapidly increased until at two shillings and four pence a thousand, not only this first lot but more than a million of these sermons .e.o. sold. It is said that there is an increasing demand for them at this time at a penny each, and that they are sent weekly to the untermost parts of the earth. Not Preach 'Race Matters.'

The feature of the afternoon session was the annual address delivered by Rev. C. S. Brown, D. D., the president, Dr. Brown reviewed every phase of the work being done by the convention. The grant of the work being done by the convention. 'Race matters should not be preached from our pulpits.' he said. "They earry with them strife. We should not breed strife from the pulpit, for the doctrine we prach is a doctrine of peace. Prejudice against a man on account of his color is wicked.

"We cannot support our own schools alone, so we must appeal to the white people for help. We should never cease to be grateful to the American Baptist Home Mission Society, of New York, and the American Baptist Publication Bociety, of Philadelphia, for the help they have rendered us as a race.

"We insist that, owing to the condition existing, we should seek the cooperation and protection of the best white people in the communities in which we live. We believe that the ghurch and pulpit should teach the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man."

The address was referred to a special committee, and the president was highly commended for his masterly address. A number of visitors were introduced. Among them was Rev. A. E. Edwards, fornerly of Greenville, Miss., but who is the associate pastor of Fifth Street Baptist Church. Dr. Edwards delivered a warm address in favor of the National Baptist Convention and spoke against some of the features of the Lott Carey convention.
